FALL GROUP SHOW FOCUS ON CLIVE R. TYLER

Reception: Friday, September 2, 6-8 pm

InSight Gallery kicks off the season with our annual Fall Group Show featuring pastel artist Clive R. Tyler and new works from all sixty of our acclaimed gallery artists.

Tyler's background in classical oil painting and graphic design contributes to his unique impressionist style with pastel. A Signature Member of the American Impressionist Society, Tyler received the 2015 Best in Show Award for pastel at their national show. From his bold landscapes to his captivating wildlife and floral paintings, he encapsulates the subtleties of changing light and air throughout the four seasons. He aims to offer the experience of the hiking trail, bison, garden peonies, and Texas oak trees, evoking the viewer's own memories and emotions. His guiding principle is "to create, not duplicate."

Lindsay Scott

African wildlife artist and New Zealand resident Lindsay Scott unites her two passions, art and science, in her stunning portraits of wild animals from around the globe. Scott's solo exhibition will feature iconic Texas images of longhorn cattle alongside the majestic African animals for which she is so renowned.

Lindsay Scott's experiences as illustrator, botanical researcher, and biologist, all contribute to her keen eye and deep love for the people and animals she paints. INTERPRETATIONS

Nancy Bush

Reception: Friday, November 4, 6-8 pm

Fredericksburg native and tonalist painter Nancy Bush brings her serene and inviting landscapes to InSight Gallery for a mid-month solo exhibition. Known for her ability to connect the viewer to nature's tranquility, Bush portrays the landscape of the Texas Hill Country and the mountains of New Mexico in her trademark soft, layered palette that soothes the senses and provides a calming retreat. Aiming not simply to replicate the landscape, Bush seeks to convey the atmosphere and mood of a fleeting, quiet moment.

"Landscape is my love and is always a challenge, spiritually and emotionally. The variety and vastness of it can sometimes be overwhelming. Simplification is the answer." — Nancy Bush

JOURNEYS

Michelle Dunaway

Reception: Friday, November 4, 6-8 pm

"I am drawn to the things that connect us as human beings, to our inner emotional journeys. Whether expressed through a subtle human gaze or through light cascading over a landscape, life is felt on a deeper level in such moments. These are the moments I am inspired to capture in paint". — Michelle Dunaway

Recently named by Southwest Art Magazine as a Master of Realism, Michelle Dunaway gathers together the drawings, paintings, and sculpture inspired by her voyages around the United States and Europe in her solo exhibition, "Journeys". This exhibition will present plein air paintings and life studies from Dunaway's travels in Alaska, her childhood home, along with works of art from her European tour and her studio in New Mexico. We are excited to announce that Dunaway will also unveil her first bronze sculpture. Though these pieces portray a wide array of subject matter, each one contains the emotional resonance that remains the harmonizing chord of Dunaway's art.

Wow! What a whirlwind the past few months have been. It's hard to believe we're already ramping up for the Fall season. The energy that comes with receiving new work from all of our gallery artists each September, in preparation for the Annual Fall Gallery Show, is tangible and excitement is definitely in the air. As you can see from the pages of this newsletter, we will be hosting big talent at Insight Gallery over the upcoming months. We hope that you have the opportunity to join us at one of these events, or to come to Fredericksburg and experience all that our wonderful town has to offer. Between the incredible galleries, delectable restaurants, ever expanding number of wineries, superb accommodation options, and the beautiful scenery of the legendary Texas Hill Country - Fredericksburg is a fantastic destination.

On their last visit to Insight, Lindsay Scott's husband, Brian, told us that, when she paints, it's like a piece of herself and it can be surreal to see it hanging on the walls for sale. This has stayed with us. We recognize the honor that has been bestowed upon us to have these artists' work at Insight Gallery, as well as the opportunity to facilitate these pieces becoming a part of your lives. Your support of our artists and this gallery means the world to us and we want to express our genuine gratitude. Don't forget that we continually keep our website updated with new works. If there is a particular artist that interests you, let us know and we'll be glad to notify you by phone or email with recent arrivals. We look forward to visiting with you soon.

Warmly,

Elizabeth and Stephen Harris and the Staff of Insight Gallery
